

Holiday Toll Now 403; State Deaths Total 28

Area Still Free From Fatalities Port Jervis Has Drowning Victim

Ulster county continued with its clean slate of no traffic deaths but death on the nation's highways climbed with grim regularity although at a pace well below that predicted for the long holiday weekend by safety officials.

The all-over total throughout the U. S. reached 222 traffic deaths. Drownings totaled 131 and there were 51 deaths reported in miscellaneous accidents for a complete total of 403.

As Americans took to the road in the second half of the Independence Day holiday the National Safety Council said death figures were "encouragingly low" and "well below" its estimate that 535 persons would die during the four-day period.

Port Jervis Drowning
The entire Hudson Valley area was apparently free from fatal accidents, according to the Associated Press.

Only one area death was listed and that by drowning. Herbert Banks, 55, of Brooklyn, was drowned in the Delaware river.

The Brooklyn man's death was one of 28 for the entire state in all holiday mishaps. The toll included 17 on the highways of the state, six by drowning and five by fatal accidents of other kinds.

The State Motor Vehicle Commissioner, Joseph P. Kelly, has predicted that 30 or more persons will die on New York's highways by midnight Sunday unless "each driver makes sure it doesn't happen."

On a comparable non-holiday period, from 6 p. m. Wednesday, June 19, to midnight Sunday, June 23, there were 49 accidental deaths in the state, including 30 in traffic.

State Fatalities
Following is a list by community of fatal accidents reported since midday yesterday:

Buffalo—Jacob Angel, 37-year-old painter, Buffalo; fell 22 feet from a ramp under construction for the state thruway.

Buffalo—Mrs. Mae V. Paulin, 65, Buffalo; struck by bus.

Gouverneur—William H. Nash, 59, Buffalo; drowned in Black Lake when boat overturned.

Camden—Ernestine Johnston, 22 months, Utica; driverless automobile rolled over her.

Jamestown—Bruce E. Williams, 19, Ashville; motorcycle automobile collision.

Rochester—Stephen W. Hendricks, 8, Rochester; struck by car.

Rochester—John F. Sorge, 36, East Rochester; stung by bee.

Lancaster—Archie Ingersoll, 65, Alden; two-car collision.

New York—Erwin Wilson, 40, New York city, injured fatally today when struck by taxicab while crossing Seventh avenue at 113th street.

Although U. S. traffic deaths swerved sharply upward at times yesterday, the overall trend was about five an hour, a little higher during evening hours. One accident alone in Michigan yesterday claimed seven lives, the highest number so far during the holiday.

The National Safety Council in its statement said that despite spurts, "traffic deaths are (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

SECOND WEDDING CEREMONY—U. S. Army Specialist 3/c William Girard, who is accused of shooting to death a Japanese woman, whispers to his bride, the former Haru "Candy" Sueyama, after they were married in a religious ceremony at Camp Whittington, Japan. They were officially wed under Japanese law on July 2, but both decided they wanted a religious ceremony. (NEA Radio-Telephoto).

Briefs Before Court Monday

U.S. Reply Is Due On Girard Charge

Washington, July 6 (AP)—The government replies today to a defense contention that its decision to let Japanese courts try army specialist William S. Girard was "unprecedented" and "inconceivable."

The government's legal brief, like that filed by Girard's attorneys yesterday, goes before the Supreme Court as a preliminary to oral arguments before the court Monday.

Denies Enticing Victim
Girard is the Ottawa, Ill., soldier charged with killing a Japanese woman while she was scavenging for scrap metal on an army firing range where he had been assigned to guard a machine gun. He contends the shooting was accidental. He has denied Japanese allegations that he enticed the woman within range of a grenade launcher from which a cartridge case was fired.

Appeal Pending
Pending before the Supreme Court is an appeal from a federal district judge's order forbidding army authorities to release Girard to the Japanese.

The Japanese based their claim on provisions of an executive agreement under which this country recognizes their primary jurisdiction to try servicemen for offenses committed while off duty.

This pact, one of a number of similar status-of-forces agreements, is currently under attack both in Congress and in the courts.

Girard's lawyers said in their brief the issues involve "the proper exercise of power by the executive, the limitations upon such power, and the authority of the executive to alienate or infringe upon the constitutional rights of the citizen."

Calls Agreement Valid
The government contends that the agreement is valid and that discretionary action taken under it is not subject to court review.

Of that, Girard's brief said "the contention that the executive may make a discretionary political determination to confer jurisdiction in a criminal case, in disregard of the deep-rooted maxim that this is a government of laws and not of men, is so unprecedented as to be inconceivable."

In Congress, meantime, Rep. Albert (Okla.), House Democratic Whip, tentatively scheduled for House consideration starting Wednesday a resolution by Rep. Bok (R.-Ohio) seeking revision or renunciation of the status-of-forces agreements.

Both Bow and Rep. Burleson (D.-Tex.) said in separate interviews that the furor over the Girard case has given a big push to Bow's measure. Burleson piloted the resolution to House Foreign Affairs Committee approval last week.

Mundt Forsees Rights Bill With Which South Can Live

Washington, July 6 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) predicted today the civil rights fight in Congress will produce a compromise "for which the south can't vote, but one with which the south can live."

Mundt told a reporter he expects the compromise will take the form of right-to-vote guarantees, plus other features, "and to that extent it will be an Eisenhower victory."

"I don't think that what they now have before them in the

GI 'Shocked' Over Slaying

Seoul, South Korea, July 6 (AP)—A U. S. soldier guarding a pipeline post in Inchon accidentally shot and killed a 3-year-old Korean boy today, the army reported. A board of officers has been appointed to investigate.

The child, King Young Ho, was sitting on the pipeline when a bullet shot from a carbine passed through his head, killing him instantly, the army said. Officials added the carbine was discharged accidentally.

The soldier, Pvt. Ronald E. Fasset, was reported in a "state of shock" following the accident. Col. Joseph V. Smith, Inchon port commander, expressed his regret to the mayor of Inchon and extended his sympathy to the child's father, Kim Chin Chou.

Fallout Is Small in Big Blast

'Diablo' Firing Scheduled July 12

Atomic Test Site, Nev., July 6 (AP)—With the biggest atomic explosion of the six-year test series in the United States accomplished, the Nevada Test Organization today turned its attention to the scheduled firing of the long-postponed "Diablo" device July 12.

"Diablo," a relatively weak weapon, is the one that failed to explode June 28 because of a power failure.

Rocket Set July 19
Following on the schedule is the July 19 firing of the first air-to-air rocket with an atomic warhead. The missile will be launched from a plane. Its target will be a predetermined point in the air.

The radioactive air masses which developed from the mushroom cloud erupting from yesterday's explosion were moving across Utah today.

The test organization said they are "depositing only minute and insignificant fallout."

Damage-25 Miles Away
The only report of offsite damage by the blast's shock wave came from the Groom Mine, 25 miles northeast of the detonation site. The test organization said it had been advised that windows were broken, window frames, doors and casings blown in and metal buildings bulged.

Dr. G. M. Johnson, test director, announced the explosion was "well over" the power of the previous record for a device set off on this testing ground. That probably would make it between three and four times the power of the World War 2 atom bombs.

Bonn Gets New Note From Reds

Bonn, Germany, July 6 (AP)—A new Soviet note to West Germany was handed to Bonn's ambassador in Moscow today, the government announced here.

Contents of the note have not yet been transmitted to Bonn but a spokesman said it concerned the overdue trade talks between West Germany and the Soviet Union.

June 15 was originally set as the opening date for the talks but the start has been held up because of Bonn's insistence that the question of thousands of Germans detained in Russia must be included on the agenda.

It was assumed that today's note was Moscow's answer to this Bonn demand.

Youths on Danger List

Four Persons Hurt In Dutchess Crash

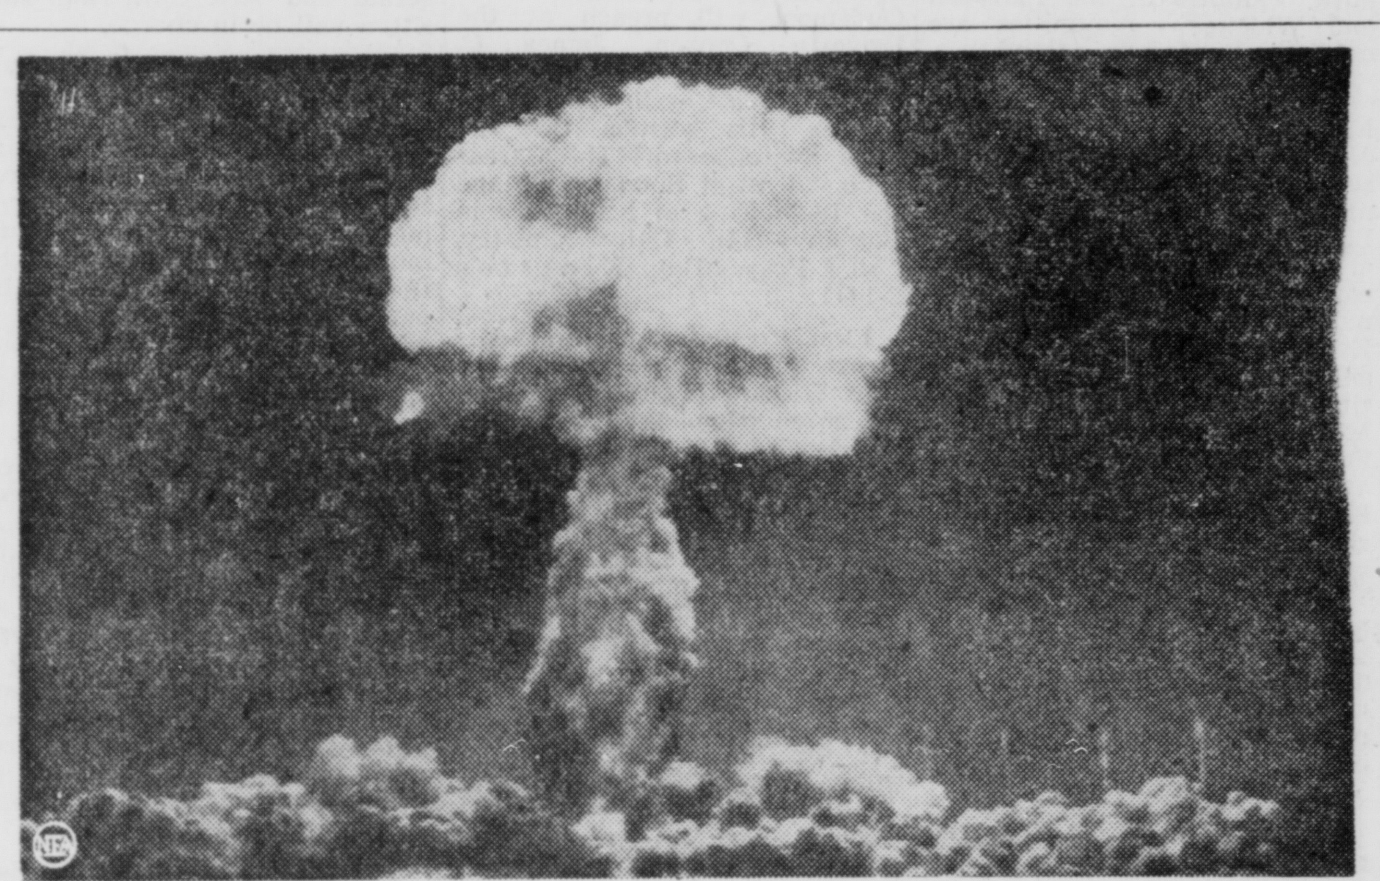

Two teen-age youths are on the "danger list" at Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie, a third youth "fair" and a fourth one "satisfactory" today as the result of a one-car accident late Friday night on a dirt road in the town of Wappinger south of Poughkeepsie.

They were injured when their car failed to negotiate a curve and turned over, striking a rock and a tree, according to Fishkill state police.

On the danger list are George Magliocco, 18, of Mt. Vernon, driver of the vehicle, and Fred Berinato, 17, of Hughsonville.

In fair condition is Joseph

62 Cement Plants Affected

Shortages Acute, Walkouts Spread

While the New York State Mediation Board continues efforts to arrange a conference between striking cement workers and plant operators, cement shortages grew more acute today as new walkouts spread through production plants in the midwest, south and west.

Strikes have cut output of the important building material by an estimated one-third in the south and east and shutdowns in Illinois cut supplies in the Chicago area by one-half, the Associated Press said today.

2,000 Out Locally
Locally, approximately 2,000 men are away from their jobs at plants in the Hudson-Catskill area, it was reported.

Meanwhile, the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers Union said that 13,000 of its 25,000 members are idle at 62 of the nation's 140 plants.

These include the bulk of plants operated by the largest concerns, Toney Gallo, general secretary-treasurer of the union, said yesterday.

East, South Hit Hard
Effects of the strike have been felt most acutely in the east and south where several large-scale projects are underway.

One of these projects is the St. Lawrence Seaway under construction in the northeast. Brig. Gen. P. D. Berrigan, head of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers' Great Lakes Division, said a severe limitation could impair plans to complete by summer the concrete pouring at two locks.

But stockpiling at the site will provide material for another week or two, he said.

Make Concessions
The walkouts stem from workers' demands for wage and fringe benefits close to 20 cents an hour more than the current $1.74 to $2.44 an hour paid by the industry.

They have made concessions in their demands, but the major firms have come up little from their 10-cents-an-hour package offer.

Gallo announced that one independent producer, the Volunteer Portland Cement Co. at Knoxville, Tenn., signed an agreement yesterday conforming to a 16-cent package pattern signed July 1 with the Marquette Cement Mfg. Co.

Marquette is the only major firm to sign an agreement. Gallo announced the union would begin a drive next week to sign up smaller companies on the basis of the Marquette agreement.

Is Answer To U.S. on Challenge

Warsaw Reports 4 Admitted Plot

London, July 6 (AP)—The Soviet Union informed the West today the big shakeup in the Kremlin will not cause any changes in its "peace-loving foreign policy."

Moscow radio replied in a righteous tone to an American challenge to the Russians to follow up the purge of Stalinist elements with measures "to promote peace and stability."

U. S. Cooperation Vital

The broadcast beamed to North America said Soviet policy all along has been "to live peacefully side by side with all countries and to do everything possible to improve our relations and cooperation with the U.S.A. since promotion of world peace depends largely on that."

The broadcast said Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and V. M. Molotov—who were purged from the Kremlin leadership this week—had opposed the "Soviet policy for peace" and tried to hamper its implementation, but their plans were frustrated.

"The conclusion is clear," said Moscow radio. "The Soviet Union's peace-loving foreign policy remains unchanged. And be assured it will be pursued still more actively and still more perseveringly."

Wait-See Attitude

The Moscow commentator said he was answering the U. S. State Department's announcement that it would watch to see what effect the changes in the Kremlin leadership have on Russian policy. State Department spokesman Lincoln White said yesterday about the Kremlin upheaval: "The proof of the pudding will be to see whether or not the Soviet Union will now proceed with practical measures directed toward achieving just solutions to...important international problems."

From Warsaw came an account of a stormy 35-hour debate in the Kremlin preceding the purge of Stalinist leaders. The argument was said to have begun with former Foreign Minister Molotov challenging Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev's leadership and to have ended with Molotov and three associates confessing a plot to seize power.

Lacks Confirmation

The account lacked official confirmation, but much inside in (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

Russia Promises Study Of U. S. Bid on Arms

London, July 6 (AP)—Russia has promised to give careful study to the U. S. offer to meet the Soviets more than half way in dismantling nuclear weapons.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin declined immediate comment, however, on Harold E. Stassen's latest proposals as the five-nation UN disarmament subcommittee recessed yesterday until Monday.

Winding up his presentation of the new U. S. plan for ending the atomic race, Stassen suggested the nuclear powers begin breaking down some of their H-bombs for peaceful use as soon as agreement is reached to halt the building of new atomic weapons. The U. S. delegate made clear, however, his government wants to keep a strong atomic weapons potential.

Stassen said the United States would agree to a 53-47 ratio with the Russians in turning fissionable H-bomb material over to international control.

This means for every 100 pounds of materials turned over to an international agency, the United States would provide 53 pounds, the Russians 47.

Stassen made his offer conditional upon four points:

1. The process would not begin until Russia and the west have halted nuclear weapons production under strict inspection and enforcement.

2. The United States would not be prevented from making over present nuclear weapons into new types.

3. The United States would be free to train the forces of other nations in the methods of using and delivering nuclear weapons as a safeguard against nuclear attack.

4. The United States would be free to store nuclear weapons in other states with their consent.

Khrushy Hits Malenkov As Worst of Ousted 3

London, July 6 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev publicly accused Georgi Malenkov today of being the "worst" of the anti-party group recently ousted from the Kremlin leadership.

Khrushchev made the accusation in a speech at a factory meeting in Leningrad where he traveled this morning with other members of his newly constituted party presidium.

The speech was broadcast by Moscow radio.

Khrushchev accused the three ousted first deputy premiers—Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich—of having attempted to "change the party line." He additionally accused them of opposing the Soviet Union's foreign policy of "peace."

This was the first personal denunciation of the three ousted government and party leaders by Khrushchev since they were dismissed earlier this week.

He said Malenkov, a former premier, was the "worst" of the group, which also included for-

Library Fair Committee Sets Initial Meeting

Woodstock, July 6.—The first organizational meeting for all library fair committee heads and workers has been called for Monday, July 8 at the Woodstock library at 8 o'clock.

Presiding at this session, where preliminary preparations for setting up the fair will be discussed, will be the co-chairmen of the 30th annual summer spectacle, Mrs. Gordon Taylor, Mrs. Kenneth E. Martin and Mrs. Inger Walker.

Approximately 50 committee chairmen, co-chairmen and committee members are expected to attend next week's meeting and formulate plans for this year's fair slated from noon to 6 p. m., July 25.

As in years past, all proceeds of the fair will go to the upkeep and expansion of the Woodstock Library which has an enviable record as one of the outstanding libraries for a village of comparable size in the entire state.

As for now, the various fair committees have started collecting and sorting clothing of all kinds, furniture, books, jewelry, toys, art supplies, linens, china and glass and a myriad of other items that will fill the scores of booths and tables at the fair. Special requests went out this week for more contributions for the toys and jewelry booths. Large toys are needed and all types, whether it appears repairable or not.

A special invitation has also been extended to anyone and everyone interested in working for the fair or at the fair to attend Monday's meeting, whether they have already volunteered or not.

Maverick Concert Is Gently Paced Program

Woodstock, July 8.—The Maverick Concert last Sunday, presented a charming, gently paced program by flutist Julius Baker, violinist Harry Zratzian and harpist Mildred Dilling.

The fact that Mildred Dilling was under the handicap of a recently broken wrist necessitated some changes in the program and drew in the assistance here and there of composer-pianist Alexander Semmler.

The atmosphere of the concert was fittingly set by the nostalgic music of Rameau and the deeply affecting Canto Amoroso for Viola and Harp by Sammartini. Zarzatan's muted playing of Ravel's Habanera left the audience breathless. Julius Baker contributed a rather frothy Sonata for Flute and Piano by the young English composer Lennox Berkeley, with Alexander Semmler at the piano. His playing of Gluck's classic Melody, Chopin's Nocturne in C sharp minor and Debussy's haunting Syrinx proved him to be one of the greatest living flutists. Mildred Dilling's offering of Hasselmann's Follets and Salzedo's Song in the Night were a sheer delight and dispelled all thoughts of her recent injury.

Semmler's Nocturne, especially written for this concert, is a moody piece that seemed to hold the audience in its spell. But the high point of the program was Debussy's Sonata for Flute, Viola and Harp in which all three players outdid themselves in technical skill and subtlety of nuance to achieve an unforgettable performance.

Boy Scout Troop 34 Holds Annual Picnic

Woodstock, July 6.—The Boy Scouts of Troop 34 with their families enjoyed a picnic and outing in the picnic grove of Ashokan Reservoir at Olive Bridge Sunday afternoon.

The principal item of food was hot dogs prepared on the spot. A shower of brief duration made it compulsory to shorten this part of the activity, after which the males engaged in a game of baseball assisted by the heckling of the females from the grandstand.

No score was kept, as that seemed unimportant. At the close of the program, William Doran Jr., Terry Van Valkenburgh, Albert Holmumzer Jr., and John Doran received certificates for training received May 11 in Kingston at the Baden Powell Junior Leaders' Training Conference. Stephen Gilligan and Charles Hughes received their Second Class ranking.

Buenos Aires, July 6 (AP)—Argentina was said to be nearing a "final decision" today in dispute with Venezuela over deposed Dictator Juan Peron. The two powers verged on an open break over Argentine chances that the exiled Peron is plotting in Caracas against the Argentine government.

Police found two bodies in the charred rubble and said they believed a suicide couple had set the fire. "A crazy, infidel couple," said one police officer. "No sane Japanese would think of doing such a thing."

Holiday Toll

still running on a level with non-holiday toll.

Drivers and law enforcement officers are doing a good job.

The Associated Press in a non-holiday test period counted 378 deaths on the highway, 146 drownings and 110 miscellaneous deaths. The test period was from 6 p. m. Wednesday, June 19 to midnight Sunday, June 23. The test was made for comparative purposes.

Record Set in 1950

The record traffic toll for any Independence Day holiday is 491 set in a four day observance in 1950. The present pace would be below that figure, but fatalities usually jump sharply on the last day of a holiday when motorists begin streaming back to their homes. The overall Fourth of July record toll is 805 set in 1955 in a three-day observance.

Drownings continued to climb during the holiday as mostly fair weather throughout the nation set thousands to beaches and lakes.

George E. Planthaber of 29 Grove street, arrested at 10:30 p. m. by the same officers on charges of speeding on North street and driving the wrong way on Corb's street, forfeited bail of $30 when he failed to appear in court this morning.

Love a Parade

Hopkinsville, Ky. (AP)—It wasn't easy but the Rotarians managed to stage their parade. The rains came and sent two bands and a drill team scurrying for cover. Others splashed on, led by musicians from another high school band. Half of them got across the railroad tracks but the others had to wait—a train came along. The stragglers finally caught up and all went well until two horses frightened by the music, reared and broke their harness. Another delay. Spectators said it was the most interesting parade ever seen.

Barbara Stanwyck zoomed to film stardom from a chorus line in a night club atop the swanky Broadway movie house where she is now seen in her films. Her name is now in such big letters and lights that they blanket out the windows of the old roof club.

Many railroad tank cars are owned by private car companies, not by the railroad lines. An "X" is used to identify such private tank cars. For instance, tank cars leased from the Shippers Car Line are labeled "SFX." And Canadian General Transit cars are labeled "CGTX."

SCIENCE TO THE RESCUE

One of the remarkable aspects of the new industrial revolution is that science not only is constantly blazing fresh trails but is going back over old ones to make exciting and helpful discoveries.

The rubber industry is a striking instance. With the World War II arrival of synthetic rubber on a major scale, it was widely assumed that to the extent its price could be made competitive with natural rubber, the man-made product would soon be grabbing off the big markets.

As it turns out today, however, the demand for natural rubber is greater than ever, and scientific experts are helping producers meet the need.

Synthetic rubber is indeed now preferred for items comprising about a third of the rubber market, including passenger automobile tires.

But the natural material is favored for another third, including medical supplies and airplane, truck and bus tires, and in the remaining third of the market synthetic and natural rubber are competitive, with the edge depending on price at any given time. Right now synthetic has a 2-1 edge.

Consequently, producers of natural rubber are toiling hard to expand the productivity of their rubber tree acreage. Here's where science comes in.

The experts have found that by developing careful replanting cycles, eliminating the older trees, and improving their methods of tapping the latex or raw rubber, they can boost the yield per acre to around 2,000 pounds a year. Averages below 450 pounds annually are still common in many producing areas.

Thus the big companies now are embarked on extensive replanting efforts in quest of these larger yields per acre. Some even talk of yields as high as 2,400 pounds a year per acre.

Interesting and thus far successful experiments are going forward with chemical "tree hormones" to stimulate latex output further. It isn't yet known what these hormone injections will do eventually either to the rubber trees or the tropical soils in which they grow.

But what has been achieved in recent times with natural rubber output is one more proof that no industrial process or material can be quite written off so long as fresh scientific imagination can still be applied to its development.

People in England have generally regarded wiretapping as an indefensible American device. Imagine their chagrin upon learning that the British home office has been using the same method. But anyway, they're safe on one score. Britain will not be sued for copyright infringement.

OUR EXPORT BUSINESS

Whatever the merits of our postwar habit of giving a certain amount of money every year to our friends abroad, there can be no objection to their buying things from us. And the record indicates they are doing more purchasing all the time.

In 1956 our total exports hit a new peak of 19 billion dollars. Already in the first four months of 1957 they have climbed 28 per cent above the comparable period of 1956. And last year's yearly total represented an 18 per cent bulge over 1955.

In a compact review of the foreign trade picture, the New York Times noted that foreign sales today consume some 20 to 25 per cent of America's wheat, rice, cotton and tobacco, more than 10 per cent of its coal, and 15 to 20 per cent of its heavy machinery and vehicles.

Some economists evidently see our foreign trade not only as an important sustaining factor for industry in good times but as a healthy balance in times of mild recession. In 1953-54 the value of all goods and services dropped one per cent—but exports rose two per cent.

Therefore it would seem plain that they

TESTING THE DECISIONS

Two RCA Communications employees, Howard V. Trautman and Salvatore Testa, appeared before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and immediately faced a test of the Watkins decision of the Supreme Court. Senator Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska did not open as usual. Instead, he read a rather long and detailed statement of the purpose of the hearing. This was to satisfy the requirements of the Supreme Court decision and add an additional sura to the ritual.

As during this session, members of the Senate have been bogged down with demands of the so-called leadership that they hang around the Senate floor listening to endless and often purposeless speeches, committee work has somewhat suffered. The best service in any legislative body has to be done in committee, not listening to colleagues' speeches made mostly for home consumption. The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has faced many difficulties. Senator Eastland is more concerned with the affairs of Mississippi and what the White House is doing to his state; Senator Olin D. Johnston is busy with the post office which has become the juvenile delinquent of the Administration; Senator Arthur Watkins must first discover what the White House desires before he will permit the committee to include him; and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson has established a veto power since Dr. Herbert Norman, Canadian Ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide while his name was being bandied about by witnesses before this committee. It was suspected that the Canadians were going to appoint a Royal Commission to investigate Norman's conduct and that the names of 60 or 70 Canadians and Americans would be mentioned.

Were those Americans Republicans or Democrats and would they all be mentioned unfavorably? I do not know. Suffice it that a new Senator, Hruska, is keeping this particular show on the road and most of the others, Democrats and Republicans alike, are afraid of it. So Hruska made the first attempt to meet the Supreme Court requirements which are to tell each witness why the committee was appointed, why the particular witnesses were called and what it is all about. This leads to time-consuming oratory about the obvious. For instance, Senator Hruska said:

"Congress has very serious obligations to the country in the face of the potential dangers involved. It is in the public interest and safety that thorough investigation and study be accorded these matters in detail such as that set out later herein, in order to determine the adequacy of present laws, the desirability of additional or new laws, or amendment of old ones. . . ."

Surely, it would have been easier to say that the committee meets to discover whether our national means of communication have been infiltrated by Communists, but with lawyers' language is everything and what seems to the layman a lot of words piled one on top of the other, with little significance and less precision, becomes essential when one realizes that when the document comes before the court much depends upon the whereas and the wherefores and the thereabouts.

So, most of these investigations are at a slow pace and the Communists are taking full advantage of the situation, not so much to increase their propaganda as to break down the effectiveness of law and order. By the Jencks decision, the FBI was incapacitated; by the Watkins decision, the effectiveness of Congressional committees was lessened; by the Mallory decision, police work involving felonies and misdemeanors has been hamstrung to a point where not so much the Communists, but the mugger, the rapist, the racketeer, the dope pusher can thwart the value of the arrest. The court may be following some philosophy of national existence, but what it is is not clear.

In a word, the concept of individual rights, in which we believe in this country, has been carried to an extreme which can only produce anarchy. While many conservatives are fuming at the "leftist" nature of the Warren Supreme Court, what they ought to realize is that the court really represents the "right" gone mad. The philosophy is more that of Herbert Spencer than of Karl Marx; it is closer to Emma Goldman than to William Z. Foster. It is not based on the leftist theory that the socialist state can do no wrong, but rather on the anarchist theory that the rights of man are absolute. Such extremism comes like a bolt out of a clear blue sky.

Blood Vessel Diseases
Growing More Important
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

An interesting fact book on hardening of the arteries and its complications has been sent me by the National Health Education Committee.

Probably most readers of this column understand that hardening of the arteries and arteriosclerosis mean the same thing. Perhaps, however, it is not so clear that this thickening and narrowing of the arteries is responsible for a variety of symptoms. These include "heart attacks," "strokes" and damage to the brain, kidneys and other parts of the body which are supplied by narrowed blood vessels.

DISEASES RESULTING from hardening of the arteries have always been important, but are more so today. If we do not die in youth from diphtheria or typhoid, for example, more of us live longer to the age when arteriosclerosis and other disorders of the later years of life will inevitably afflict us. Thus today, taken as a group, there are more deaths from heart and blood vessel disease than from any other single cause.

Aside from the threat to life of hardening of the arteries, many people become disabled each year from the effects of this process. Some develop angina pectoris; others have heart attacks. Some have strokes and there are other complications as well.

FURTHERMORE, there is a terrific economic loss from blood vessel disease. If a breadwinner is no longer able to work because of some manifestation of arteriosclerosis, he and his family suffer. Also there is lack of production and the considerable cost on those who are still healthy of supporting the victim.

The need to learn more about prevention of arteriosclerosis and the effects which it causes is urgent. Some figures on this are illuminating.

ONLY $2,351,000 is spent each year in research on arteriosclerosis, high blood pressure and brain disease resulting from blood vessel disorders. This contrasts with 121 million dollars spent annually on agricultural research. At the same time we spend almost 100 million dollars a year for face creams, over 27 million dollars for men's package toiletry sets and vast sums for alcohol and tobacco.

Thus, if we would save untold misery, as well as improve the economic picture, we should speed up research on arteriosclerosis and related disorders. This takes money as well as the devotion of skilled investigators.

are a definite stabilizer in averting sharp downswings.

We use our sense of sight more than any other, according to scientists. It may be wondered, however, whether some people use their eyes anywhere near as much as they do their tongues.

"I Hear They're Working on a Bigger Paper Missile"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Department of Health, Education and Welfare under Secretary Marion B. Folsom has moved right in to prevent or handle any epidemic of Far Eastern influenza in this country.

This is profiting from the mistakes made in the infantile paralysis inoculation campaign of last year. This time there is to be plenty of advance organization and full publicity every step of the way.

Responsibility heads up in the U. S. Public Health Service, under Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney. But the actual work must be done by doctors in American Medical Assn., state and local health authorities. And there is full cooperation with World Health Organization to check a pandemic, or worldwide epidemic.

"Asiatic Flu," as it has been dubbed in the headlines, is not regarded as particularly dangerous. It is another respiratory disease, virus, cold or whatever you want to call it.

THERE ARE MANY varieties. The strain changes. This one can normally be cured and the fever ended by a few days' rest in bed with plenty of aspirin, say the doctors.

Far Eastern medical statistics aren't too good. But in areas where the disease has been reported, it has affected only 15 to 20 per cent of the population. Deaths have been half of one per cent.

But a serious epidemic in an area the size of New York city, with 10 million population, might mean up to 10,000 casualties. This is why precautionary measures are necessary.

People arriving in this country by air from areas where the disease is prevalent are given warnings to report to health authorities if they develop flu within 10 days.

The Spanish flu pandemic of World War I took so many casualties not from the flu itself but from bacteria "riders" like pneumonia. Today the new antibiotics take care of these complications, so casualties should be further reduced.

DEVELOPMENT of a new serum to prevent the disease is the most dramatic scientific contribution in the fight against the flu thus far. Two U. S. Army doctors obtained the first strains of Asiatic flu from throat washings of patients in Hong Kong.

These strains were flown to Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington. Here they were developed into a culture. Samples were then sent to six licensed U. S. biological manufacturers.

They developed serums which are now being tested at National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md. If they prove out, three of the biological houses are ready to produce the serum in whatever quantity may be demanded.

The serum can be developed in a matter of weeks in a culture of fertile hen eggs, which are now in ample supply.

This is a lot simpler and cheaper than culture of polio vaccine in Indian monkeys, which took months.

THE FLU SERUM is not a cure, but a preventive. It becomes effective in from 10 days to two weeks after inoculation. A single injection will last a season, and must then be repeated.

Influenza is most prevalent in fall, winter and spring. There is now more danger of its spread in Australia and South America, which are going into their winter, than in the northern summer. Inoculations should be made in

Week's Business & Finance Reported by AP

Industrials Up

New York, July 6 (AP)—Industrial shares skyrocketed to a new historic peak this week, giving Wall Street plenty to celebrate on a long Independence Day weekend.

For the stock market as a whole, prices on average were back at the previous 1957 high.

Despite the July Fourth holiday, traditionally a dull time for the market, signifying the start of the summer vacation period, the average this week made its biggest weekly advance since the week ending Dec. 8, 1956.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $4.20 to $186.40, exactly equaling the 1957 high. The industrial component reached a new high of $277.30, topping the previous summit of $276.30 attained Aug. 2, 1956.

New 1957 Top

The Dow-Jones industrial average was at a new 1957 top of 516.89 and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index reached a new yearly high of 48.69.

Biggest explosion, though, was the rise in steel prices. The echoes were still booming across the economy at week's end.

A scant few days after the steelmakers boosted prices by an average of $6 a ton, increases were announced by manufacturers of transformers and roller bearings. Producers of many other steel-containing products were expected to take similar action soon.

Livestock Report

Chicago, July 6 (AP)—Unofficial estimated livestock receipts for Monday are 22,000 cattle, 9,000 hogs, and 1,500 sheep.

Hog prices made one of the sharpest advances of the year this week due to the lightest receipts in 10 years, a big boost in wholesale pork cuts, and a good shipping demand.

Hogs Advanced

Butchers Friday hit a top of $21.50, the highest price since June 22, 1955. The average price reached $20.50, also the highest since that date. Hogs advanced $1.25 to $1.50 for the week and sows about 75 cents.

Some pork items ranged as much as $6.00 per hundred pounds higher in Chicago this week, and as much as $8.00 higher in New York.

Grain Market

Chicago, July 6 (AP)—Grain brokers await the government's July 1 winter wheat production forecast with more than usual interest because of the somewhat confused weather picture.

The report will be issued Wednesday, forecasting also total production of spring wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, and acreage for soybeans.

Improved weather and harvesting conditions caused wheat to slump this week on the board of trade, after an upturn of three weeks. Corn, oats and soybeans managed to stay slightly ahead of a week ago.

New style wheat closed Friday 3 1/2 to 5 cents lower than a week ago Friday. Corn was 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher, oats 1 1/2 higher to 1 1/2 lower, rye unchanged to 1/2 down, soybeans unchanged to 1 1/2 up, and laid 15 to 27 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Bond Review

New York, July 6 (AP)—The corporate bond market firmed this holiday shortened week. It was the first advance in nearly four months.

Not since the week ended March 16 have corporates interrupted their downward slide. Even this week's rally was spotty. Utilities, rails and foreign dollar issues improved but investment quality issues and industrial bonds drifted lower to new bottoms for the year. But the trend was halted—at least temporarily, bond analysts said hopefully.

U. S. Bonds Improved

The government bond market improved too. Treasury issues not only held their gains of the previous week but registered advances of more than one point. Transactions were small, however, and the market for long-range issues continued to be thin. For the week, the treasury's 30-year 3 1/4 and 40-year 3s moved up a full point each at 94 24/32 and 88 24/32 bid, respectively.

During the week ended Wednesday, the Federal Reserve System bought more than 493 million dollars of treasury bills in the market, largest volume of such purchases since October, 1954. The "fed" normally buys bills just before a holiday to supply reserves to the banks to offset expected heavy withdrawals of current currency.

The improvement in the market for these short-term obligations spread to the bonds. Another factor bolstering government securities has been the lighter schedule of corporate and municipal new issues, lessening the competition for investment capital from these sources.

The next test the government will undergo will be the refunding of $15,848,000,000 August treasury notes. These consist of $12,056,000,000 of 2 1/2s maturing Aug. 1 and $3,792,000,000 of 2s maturing Aug. 15. About half are held outside the federal reserve banks and government agencies, so the treasury will have a major problem in keeping attrition down. The treasury announcement about its offering to refund these notes is expected about July 18.

A segment of bond analysts believes that once the August refunding has been accomplished, the "fed" will boost its discount rate to 3 1/4 per cent. The current 3 per cent rate is regarded by many as unrealistic in the present market.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director Veterans' Service Agency, and William Hartman, state veteran counselor NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, submit another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and other dependents.

Medical—A new system has been put into effect in connection with VA out-patient treatment service under which home-town doctors are authorized to treat veteran patients. The system went into effect in some states on January 1, 1957 and was extended to all states by July 1, 1957. The veteran patients who are expected to be included in the new system are those receiving out-patient treatment in their own home towns for service-connected disabilities which require long periods of treatment. Now physicians caring for patients with chronic illnesses may receive VA authorizations to continue treatments for periods up to one year instead of the former system of issuing authorization on a monthly basis. Moreover, doctors need only to submit medical reports on a three months basis instead of the monthly reports heretofore required. Also the doctors may submit medical bills on their own letterhead stationery instead of on VA forms. Travel authorizations for veterans will be issued to cover the whole authorized period in the event they have to travel to nearby cities to visit medical specialists. The past procedure only permitted travel authorizations to be issued on a monthly basis.

"We act as your Poughkeepsie office. Phone answering service; mail forwarded; messages and orders taken; complete stenographic service. GRover 1-3555."

Education—Children of deceased veterans who are eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Educational program are not allowed to pursue correspondence courses under this law.

Bonus—A constitutional amendment was recently approved by the Pennsylvania General Assembly which authorizes a Korean state veteran bonus. The amendment, however, must be voted on in the general election on November 5, 1957. If it receives the voters' approval at that time payments could be expected after the early part of 1958.

Legislation—A bill has been introduced into the House of Representatives which proposes to establish a uniform standard of eligibility governing benefits for widows of war veterans. Under present law, there is a great deal of confusion regarding the eligibility of veterans' widows for federal benefits. The confusion is due to the fact that separate laws granting benefits to widows were passed after each of our

Iran Quake Toll May Reach 5,000

Tehran, July 5 (AP)—Official sources say the earthquake in north Iran was the world's most devastating since 1949. Aid teams still were unable to reach many of the 100 villages reported destroyed Tuesday. But a government spokesman said last night the number of Iranians killed would reach well over 1,500. A member of Parliament put the figure at 5,000.

The earthquake-battered area curved for 500 miles from the Soviet Azerbaijan border on the northwest, southward around the Caspian Sea and back to the border of Soviet Turkmen on the northeast.

Although the adjoining Soviet areas doubtless were damaged, there has been no report of casualties or damage north of the border.

Topping the 1,400 killed in Algeria in September 1954, the official figure was the greatest number of persons killed in an earthquake since 6,500 died in Ecuador in August 1949. The government said all Iranian ports and villages on the Caspian were devastated. Property damage in areas thus far visited by aid teams was estimated at 25 million dollars.

Shortages of food, medicine, water and shelter are acute. Virginia colonists imported the first cows to the New World; today's U. S. cow population has grown to 21,000,000 head.

Second All-Bach Concert Tonight At Lenox, Mass.

The second Chamber Orchestra concert in the 1957 Berkshire Festival will be held tonight in the Theatre-Concert Hall at Tanglewood, Lenox, Mass., at 8:30 o'clock. Charles Munch, music director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will conduct members of the orchestra in a concert of Brandenburg Concertos by Bach. Sunday afternoon, the third all-Bach concert will be conducted by Dr. Munch in the Music Shed at 2:30 o'clock. The increased capacity of the Shed will allow a far greater number of people to attend this concert of the "St. Matthew Passion", including the Opening Chorus and Part II of this great monument of choral music. The solo singers are well known to Tanglewood audiences, having appeared many times at Berkshire Festival concerts—Adele Addison, soprano (a native of Springfield); Florence Kopleff, alto (from New York city); John McCollum, tenor (from Ossining); Donald Gramm, bass (also from New York city); and James Joyce, bass (a native of Boston). The Harvard Glee Club and the Radcliffe Choral Society will make a special trip from Boston with their conductor, G. Wallace Woodworth, to appear in this concert.

Tickets are available at the Tanglewood Box Office for the concert of Sunday, July 7, and for succeeding concerts of the Berkshire Festival. Telephone reservations are accepted. The grounds will be open to concertgoers at 12 noon on Sunday afternoon for those who wish to picnic on the lawns before the concert.

'Gold Cadillac' Next Cragmoor Playhouse Vehicle

Mary Farrell, who appeared in two Broadway hits this past season, will have the leading role in "Solid Gold Cadillac," opening at the Cragmoor Playhouse Wednesday, July 10, according to Elaine Perry and Irl Mowery, managers. Miss Farrell was featured in "The Loud Red Patrick" with David Wayne and Arthur Kennedy, and later was a member of the cast of the Tennessee Williams drama "Orpheus Descending." In past seasons the talented character woman has played opposite David Wayne in "The Ponder Heart" and with Eartha Kitt in "Mrs. Patterson."

With a run of 528 performances on Broadway, "Solid Gold Cadillac" later toured the country from coast to coast, and has been produced in practically every corner of the world. In Holland the title was changed to "Cinderella in Wall Street." The central figure in the comedy is an elderly actress—a role created by Josephine Hull on Broadway—and which will be portrayed by Miss Farrell at Cragmoor. The actress, who is "at leisure," and with plenty of time on her hands, owns 10 shares of General Products Corp. and attends the annual stockholders meeting. She asks a few embarrassing questions and is promptly given a job to hush her up. Before she is through she upsets Washington, makes the front pages, and has done a lot for other stockholders like herself.

Appearing with Miss Farrell, Sefron Darr, who in her first appearance at Cragmoor created such a sensation as the wife in "Witness for the Prosecution" will have the part of the lady's secretary. Gaylord Mason, long a favorite with Cragmoor fans, will have the leading male role. The cast will also include Robert Minford, Ray Gantoff, Arthur Gorton and Bill Steele, as members of the Board of Directors; Walter Carlin, as the mail boy; also Barbara Davis, Yvonne Clifford, Michael Miller, George Constant, Tom Portelli and Jane Gams. Eugene Marner, Charles Kindl and Bethann Ashfield will appear as news broadcasters. "Solid Gold Cadillac" was authored by George S. Kaufman and Howard Teichman and will be directed by Elaine Perry. It will be designed by Mike English. Beginning Wednesday, July 17, the Cragmoor Playhouse will present "Desk Set."

JUNIOR LEAGUE VISITS COUNCIL — Visiting members of the Kingston Junior League get an inside view of Common Council happenings as Alderman-at-Large John J. Schwenk, seated and City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer discuss business agenda for the session. The Council visit is part of the new training course for League members. Present for the Council session were (l-r) Miss Jane LeFever, Mrs. Michael Larkin, Miss Kathleen O'Reilly, Miss Patricia O'Reilly, Mrs. Francis Tucker, co-chairman of the League's Provisional Course; Miss Burton Johnson, chairman of the course; Miss Cynthia Haver, Mrs. Thomas Henebery, Mrs. Glenn Van Gaasbeek, Mrs. Stephen Larios and Mrs. Clyde Wonderly Jr. (Freeman photo)

Junior League Educational Course Takes In Visit of Common Council in Action

A visit to the Common Council in an actual business session recently was one of the features of the Junior League Provisional Course under the leadership of Mrs. Burton Johnson, chairman and Mrs. Francis Tucker, co-chairman. The course, designed for 14 new members, began June 10 and will conclude July 13. Thus far, the course has included an educational view of what every member of Junior League is expected to do as a responsible citizen of her community.

These new members, a Junior League spokesman said, are learning the physical and industrial characteristics of Kingston and how they can be an active part of volunteer organizations through their knowledge of this city's government, educational facilities, its public and private agencies, labor and religious groups.

In addition to the Common Council meeting, where they were lectured by Alderman-at-Large John J. Schwenk and City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer, the new members have received lectures from other personages of the community. Edmund Burhans, former probation officer who is now postmaster of Saugerties, told the new members that the Junior League of Kingston was responsible for the hiring of two new probation officers in Ulster county. Mr. Burhans then took the group on a tour of the City Jail and Court House.

Mrs. Richard Kuehne also has addressed the new Junior League group about the project that had been unanimously elected to be undertaken by the league this year, at the Kingston Library.

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, public health commissioner of Ulster county and Miss Esther Schisa, RN, director of public health nurses, showed the group the intricacies of the Kingston Laboratory.

Another feature of the course was made possible by Mrs. Mary B. Terwilliger, custodian of the Senate House Museum who gave the new members a complete history of the museum.

Harry G. Edinger Magna Cum Laude Graduate at Yale

VISITING AUNT WHO IS ILL. Dear Mrs. Post: My aunt, who is recuperating from an operation, is staying with her son and his wife. My sisters and I would like to go to visit her but have hesitated to do so because in the eight years of their married life, her son and his wife have never invited us to their house. I feel that since it is not my aunt's house it would be wrong to go uninvited to a house where we have never been invited. What is your opinion? I called my cousin to "inquire about his mother's health and he never said anything about going to see her. Under the circumstances, would it be proper for us to go and see her?

Answer: One does not have to be invited to go and see a sick relative and I am sure your cousin did not want to place you in the position of having to go to see his mother by asking that you come. If I were you, I would call this cousin again and say that you would like to go to see his mother if she is well enough to have visitors and then be guided by the tone of his answer.

Guests Fail to Come to Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: If guests are invited to one's house a week in advance, is it necessary for the hostess to call the day before the expected dinner to verify the engagement? The hostess in question did not call and consequently the guests did not come to dinner. Their excuse was that not having heard anything further they took it for granted that the dinner was off and made other arrangements. I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: If you made a definite engagement with them to come to dinner on a certain evening and said nothing about calling them later, the guests were inexcusably rude not to come.

Accepting a Husband's Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to go to a party on a husband's invitation alone without any word from his wife? One of the men in my husband's office, with whom he is friendly has invited us to his house to a cocktail party. The invitation was given verbally. We don't know his wife.

Answer: To a dinner party, the wife's invitation is necessary, but to a cocktail party the husband's invitation is sufficient.

How should table napkins be folded, and what size is used for dinner? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Leaflet E-32, "Table Linen," includes this information, also when to use various table cloths. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH G. HEIM JR.
(Photo by Tom Reynolds)

Miss Jean Marie Lasher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Lasher of Esopus Creek drive, Saugerties, was united in marriage to Joseph G. Heim Jr., son of Joseph G. Heim of Leeds and the late Mrs. Heim, Sunday, June 30, at 2 p. m. in St. Patrick's Church, Catskill.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edwin Donovan.

For the occasion the chancel was decorated with bouquets of snow balls, Peter DiTucci, organist played the traditional nuptial refrains.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of lace over taffeta, styled with Sabrina neckline. The full skirt terminated in a chapel train. Her headpiece consisted of a coronet of lace and seed pearls which supported a fingertip veil. Lace mitts completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet of white orchids with stephanotis.

The bride's twin sister, Mrs. Derbyshire of Saugerties served as matron of honor and wore a gown of pink chiffon over taffeta, iridescent headpiece with tiny veil. She carried red roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Anne Heim, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Barbara Mokczycki of Athens, who wore similar gowns in aqua and both carried pink roses.

Brother of the bridegroom William Heim of Leeds served as best man and brother-in-law of the bride George Derbyshire and Michael Mokczycki were ushers. The mother of the bride wore dress of powder blue lace over taffeta with matching hat and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony 100 guests attended the reception at Sarro's, Catskill.

For the wedding journey to Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H., the bride chose for her traveling ensemble an orchid dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will make their home in Leeds.

'The Battle' Has Kitchen At Front

Rooms Four Bedrooms Two
Closets Seven
Cubage 18,700
House 3,800
Garage 3,800
Dimensions 39' x 24'
Overall 60'

"The Battle," today's offering from the Home of the Week Plan Service, is an attractively modern, one-story house designed especially for the small family.

Both bedrooms in this four-room-house are located in the rear in order to insure the utmost possible quiet and privacy for the sleeping quarters. Each bedroom is well lighted and ventilated; there is ample storage space in the bedrooms, too.

An all-modern bath—large enough to hold both a tub and a shower—is conveniently placed between the two bedrooms.

Kitchen in Front
In order to leave the rear and quieter sections of the house for the bedrooms the kitchen has been placed in the front of the house. This is a room arrangement that is steadily gaining in favor with home builders. And, in this particular house plan placing the kitchen at the front of the house offers a double advantage because in this location it is right next to the combination living-dining room.

Spacious and pleasant, the living room is designed to do double duty. Place your dining room set in that part of the living room that is nearest to the kitchen. And, plan an overall decorative scheme and furniture arrangement that will be appropriate for the dual function of this room and blend it into one harmonious whole.

Larger Than Usual
The all modern kitchen is larger than many found in today's homes. In addition to a complete array of modern appliances, counters and cabinets, this kitchen contains a good sized breakfast nook. And, there is also space allotted for your laundry equipment. The door opening on the connecting porch provides easy access to the yard you'll especially appreciate on wash day.

Measuring 39 by 24 feet, the house—including porch and attached garage—has an overall measurement of 60 feet. Cubage of the house is 18,700 feet; cubage of the garage is 3,800 feet. You'll need approximately an 80-foot lot to build the house and garage.

The only required basement installation for this house is the heating equipment. This should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Available
Complete plans and specifications for this home are available. Address requests (mentioning name of home) to Home of the Week, Dept. KF, 87 Weybosset street, Providence, R. I.

Exploit Natural Wood Markings

When finishing wood paneling, you can paint it to blend with or contrast to other decorations. Or you can exploit the natural markings and color of the wood by finishing with varnish, clear lacquer or shellac. Delicately colored stains now on the market give you a wide choice in soft pastel tints that will not hide natural grain.

You can install wood paneling right over old plaster, cracks and all, or attach it to studs or furring strips in unfinished places like a basement or attic.

Folding Trailers

While traveling you fold up the newest mobile house. When you stop you can unfold it and get more living space. The secret is the use of hinges on exterior and interior walls and roof sections.

Garden Possible Even in Shade

Many home owners whose yards or parts of them are in the shade have the impression that they cannot have a garden, or good landscaping.

This is a mistake, says the American Association of Nurserymen because "having a garden in the shade" is simply a matter of selecting the plants that will grow in the shade. Such advice is available from any up-to-date nurseryman, and it is all that is needed to make the garden an outstanding success.

For every climate in the United States there is a long list of plants, some of which do even better in shade than sun. The list includes many evergreens, flowering shrubs and trees and colorful ornamental fruits.

Advice Unheeded

Despite all the advice on the subject, it is estimated that only one home owner in every 15 has placed informative tags on all the water shut-off valves in the house so the right one can be located in an emergency.

Plank Wall For Fireplace

The simple, clean lines of modern-style fireplaces offer a strong visual interest, but the general effect usually is enhanced by giving the fireplace wall some special pattern, line and color, decorators point out.

Wood grain paneling can serve such purposes on all counts. Each type of wood grain has its distinctive appeal. Tongue-and-groove planks add the interest of neat vertical joint lines. And wood coloration affords its own kind of richness.

For a fireplace wall that combines the decorative characteristics of wood grains with unusual practical advantages, many home owners cover the area with planks of predecorated hardboard.

Available in authentic reproductions of selected wood grains, these planks are a smooth grainless wood-fiber product with a baked plastic finish that defies soil, moisture, wear and other abuse. They need no finishing or waxing. And they can be wiped clean with a damp cloth.

The modern fireplace setting can profit also from other decorative touches. The tendency toward smaller fireplace openings results in a larger wall expanse above, and often there is no mantel on which to display art objects. These factors make it especially effective to hang an impressive picture or group of pictures over the fireplace.

One can also capitalize in a decorative sense from the tendency to place the hearth above the floor so that everyone can get a good view of the blazing logs.

New Look for Walls

A new lumber product has a distinctive wood grain pattern embossed to the surface of tempered wood. A two-tone effect may be achieved by first coating its surface with a primer or sealer, and then applying a second coat. The second coat should be the desired over-all color. Then a third coat of slow-drying paint (harmonizing or contrasting paint) is applied and removed immediately with a squeegee, stroking in the direction of the grain. This gives an unusual effect.

Stop Window Rotting

Rot of wood sash windows and rust on metal sash can be forestalled by periodic checkups on window putty. When there are signs that the putty is separating from the glass, it is prudent to replace it. A good priming coat of paint is called for before new putty is applied. This will prevent the wood from soaking up the oil in the putty. After the putty has had several days to dry it should be painted.

Wallpaper Tip

When buying wallpaper, always check the run number on the edge to be sure that the pattern and color of each roll will be an exact match. If the "run" numbers are different, there may be a slight variation in color.

Fore Thought!

When painting screening, keep a toothpick handy to unclog any holes while the paint is still wet.

Color for Roofs Of Flat Design

Owners of homes with almost-flat roofs can be happily surprised when they talk to a roofing contractor about having a worn, weathered roof replaced.

The surprise stems from the fact that they rarely expect to be offered anything but more of the same colorless material that was put on the house when it was built. Instead, the roofer, if he keeps up to date on modern building materials, will tell them that industry has developed a way to apply asphalt shingles on low-slope roofs and he can show them this material in a wide range of colors, from light pastels and blends to deep tones.

Thanks to improved application methods, asphalt shingles now can be applied to low-slope roofs if the pitch is not less than two inches per horizontal foot. As a result, nearly flat roofs can be colorful and at the same time have long life and weathering ability.

The roofer first lays a double layer of heavy asphalt saturated felt. For even greater protection and strength, he cements these layers down along the eaves with asphalt cement. The shingles are then applied in the normal way over the felt, and cemented down to give the roof more weatherproofing ability.

Many color stylists say that homes with low slope roofs need colorful roofing because even a nearly flat roof is visible from the ground. They recommend light-color asphalt shingles for houses built low to the ground. A light color on the roof makes the house look bigger and taller.

Countertop Wear

Kitchen countertops receive rugged wear—just as much as kitchen floors. That's why countertops in new homes are now being finished with life-lasting ceramic tile. This waterproof, stainproof, really durable material is a big boon to builders in another way, too. Available in 200 different colors, it is perfect for creative room design.

Use Crushed Shells

If you ever wondered what crushed egg shells are good for, try this. Coat the exteriors of clean tin cans with fresh white shellac. Quickly before the shellac dries, sprinkle on the crushed egg shells. The cans will then make interesting containers for plants.

Plant Food Pellets

Fertilizing and watering the garden this spring can be done in one operation. New pellets of compressed plant food are designed so they can be inserted into a conventional garden hose. When the water flows the pellets dissolve, thus watering and fertilizing the plants simultaneously.

Watering Lawns

The best time to water lawns and flower beds is in the evening and the best way to water is thoroughly, until the soil is soaked, and then again only when the soil again becomes dry. Rose plants are an exception. They should be watered in the morning.

Water Softeners

Two functions are performed by household water softeners. They remove calcium and magnesium, the minerals that make water hard. They also filter out dissolved iron. The first function reduces the amount of soap needed. The second prevents red or brown stains on clothing and plumbing fixtures.

More Shower Units

The extent of home improvement activity is indicated by a report from the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau estimating that more than 60 per cent of all shower bath equipment now being manufactured is installed in existing homes five years old and older.

Wooden Dowels

When inserting a wooden dowel into a hole, much of the glue will be squeezed out unless you make some provision for preventing it. You can do this by filing a few ridges into the dowel ahead of time.

Making Nails Hold

Nails have greater holding power if they are driven into the wood at an angle.

Plunges to Death

Actress, Graham Speak to 19,200

New York, July 6 (AP)—A standing-room-only crowd of 19,200 heard Evangelist Billy Graham and actress Dale Evans in Madison Square Garden last night.

Miss Evans, wife of cowboy star Roy Rogers, sang a medley of gospel songs and told how she "accepted Christ" nine years ago. She said she and her family wouldn't be able to live in a land of make-believe like Hollywood if they didn't have Christ.

Miss Evans has five adopted children and two of her own. The children include a Korean and an American Indian.

Before beginning his sermon to the huge throng, Graham asked all those under 25 to stand. An estimated 60 per cent of the crowd arose.

The evangelist's subject was "Youth Affaire." His text was Ezekiel 22:30—"And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none."

Graham said God is searching for young people to serve him. There were 576 "decisions for Christ" last night. That brought the total for the 50 meetings in the Garden to 27,582. Attendance now totals 847,800.

BRL District Six Tournament Halted Pending Investigation

Order Issued After Protest by Harlem Valley

Kingston Team Awaits Word on 7-0 Triumph

Further play in the Babe Ruth League District Six tournament has been halted pending investigation of Kingston's victory over Harlem Valley earlier this week.

Harlem Valley protested Kingston's 7-0 win at Saugerties Tuesday claiming that the local team used several players over the legal age limit.

Frank Nadal of Kingston, regional tournament director, announced that he had been informed by telegram from Charles E. Hasty, assistant state director, to cease tournament play. Hasty's message read briefly: "Stop tournament play pending investigation." It was sent from White Plains.

Kirby Protests

Harlem Valley manager Ed Kirby lodged the protest following Kingston's triumph which opened the tourney. Kirby challenged the ages of several Kingston players particularly Hobbie Armstrong who appeared in the role of a reserve. Hobbie is a 15-year-old and will not become 16 until Aug. 26.

A spokesman for the Kingston team said that rosters had been sent to BRL headquarters in Trenton, N. J. and since no reply had been received everything was assumed alright.

Nadal said that he phoned Hasty prior to game time concerning the rosters as sort of a double check and had received assurance that they were in proper order. He relayed this information to Kingston manager Ed Jordan in the middle of the game with the locals ahead 3-0. Jordan, who had purposely withheld Armstrong until getting confirmation, then inserted Hobbie into the lineup.

Nadal Makes Calls

After the game, Nadal spent most of the night making phone calls to headquarters and White Plains. He said "I was still up at 1 a. m. trying to get things straightened out."

Kingston won handily behind a superation one-hitter by right-hander Paul Gardner. It was supposed to play Saugerties the next night (Wednesday) at Dietz Stadium, but the game had to be postponed.

President James Gilpatrick of the local league is out of town on vacation and was not available for comment.

Daley Captures Top Honors at Wiltwyck Club

Bob Daley led a sweep by low handicap golfers in the annual July 4th Flag Tournament at the Wiltwyck Country Club.

Daley, former club champion, fired a neat 78, which with his 11 handicap, allowed him five strokes to spare. He parred the 19th and belted a 230-yard tee shot off the 20th to capture first place in the traditional holiday event.

Other prize winners included Dave Eyles, from this year's Kingston High DUSO League championship team, who finished in the cup on the 19th; Ronnie Marks, club champion in 1955, who finished seven feet from the 19th hole; Matt Dietzmann, who finished 16 feet from the 19th.

And Harvey Bostic whose one stroke carried 260 yards down the 19th; Larry Jacobs, who wound up 250 yards off the 19th; and Ray LeFevre, who finished 240 yards off the 19th.

Wiltwyck will conclude its qualifying round for the championship flight today and Sunday. A three round Rigger tourney is also set.

KNOWING THAT FISH ARE ALARMED BY CARELESS NOISE FROM A BOAT'S OCCUPANTS, IT SOUNDS INCREDIBLE THAT A DELIBERATE SPLASHING OF WATER MAY SOMETIMES ATTRACT FISH. Southpaw 'Well' Again

Mizell Back on Beam Beating Redleg Cousins

(By The Associated Press)

This nerve-numbing National League pennant race, closest first-to-fifth scramble in the modern era, is back to normal in one respect. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell is beating Cincinnati again.

After two early losses to his favorite NL "cousins" and bogged down in the worst start in his major league life, the colorful St. Louis lefthander came through with his first good game in nearly a month last night—just when the Cards needed it.

Their 4-3 victory in 11 innings pushed St. Louis back into first place in the flip-flop race after a week's absence, dumping the Redlegs into second, a half game behind.

Mizell, winning only his second in eight decisions, did it with a nine-hit, seven strikeout performance.

Cunningham Hero

Joe Cunningham's double drove home the winner for the Cards, who last led from June 20-28 in a race that has seen the lead change hands nine times in the last month. Milwaukee, in third place a game behind, lost ground when beaten by Chicago 7-4, but fourth-place Brooklyn stepped up to within two of the top on Roy Campanella's three-run homer that beat Robin Roberts 6-5 and dropped fifth place Philadelphia 3½ off the pace. New York's Giants routed Pittsburgh, 11-6 in the other NL game.

New York's American League leaders maintained their three-game edge over the Chicago White Sox, rallying to nip Washington 5-3 in 10 innings while the White Sox routed Cleveland, 14-4. Boston regained third place from the Indians, downing Baltimore 7-5 and snapping Billy Loes' seven-game win streak. Detroit's Jim Bunning ran his record to 10-2 with an eight-hit, 8-4 decision over Kansas City.

23 Homers Off Roberts

Campanella's homer was the 23rd this season off Roberts, now 6-11 with five straight losses. It came in the eighth with Gino Cimoli and Gil Hodges on base. Roger Craig won it in relief.

Seven runs in the sixth inning won for the Giants and Johnny Atwell, now 7-7. The Giants tied a NL record when three pinch hitters hit safely in the rally. Bobby Thomson homering and Ray Jablonski and Ossie Virgil contributing two-run singles. Eddie Bressoud, hitting his first in the majors on the day he was recalled from Minneapolis, also homered for New York along with Dusty Rhodes and Gail Harris.

Bill Skowron's single drove in the tie-breaker for the Yanks as Art Ditmar won over Bud Evers, both in relief. Mickey Mantle single during a three-run Yankee rally in the eighth for his 1,000th career hit and drew his 88th and 89th walks in.

The triumph also enabled the Brooks to pull a game and a half in front of the Phillies in the tight National League race.

Old-Time Summer Weather Is Due For Most of U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

Good, old-fashioned summer weather—with sunny skies and pleasant temperatures—greeted most of the nation today as Americans celebrated the third day of a long Fourth of July holiday.

Gone were the tornadoes, violent winds and heavy rains which battered scattered parts of the nation in recent days.

The Weather Bureau forecast thundershowers for only a few scattered areas of the country today. They were the Pacific northwest and southern Rockies, and portions of the north and central plains, gulf coast and interior New England.

Heat Wave Continues

A sizzling heat wave still held a hot grip on the southwest, however. Needles, Calif., in the southwest desert reported a high of 113 degrees yesterday and the thermometer still was over the 100-degree mark up to midnight Friday. Other desert stations reported the heat wave "dropped" to the upper 90s during the night.

Mostly pleasant weather prevailed over the country yesterday except for scattered areas of rainfall.

Rain fell along the central gulf coast to the middle Atlantic coast where southward bound cool air clashed with warm humid air.

Nocturnal thundershowers pelted the upper Mississippi valley, part of the torrid southwest, and far northwest.

Some Cooling

It will be warmer in the north central portion of the country today but there will be some cooling along the Atlantic coast and the Pacific northwest. Elsewhere temperatures will remain the same.

Some early morning temperatures and weather conditions: New York city 71 and clear; Washington 76 and clear; Miami 77 and clear; New Orleans 84 and thundershowers; Dallas 85 and clear; Kansas City 79 and clear; St. Louis 73 and clear; Billings 75 and clear; Denver 72 and clear; Phoenix 94 and partly cloudy; Salt Lake City 75 and clear; Los Angeles 69 and cloudy; San Francisco 51 and partly cloudy.
